A Village Green Home Companion Debuts

"It was a quiet week in Village Green..."

Annual Meeting Draws a Crowd

On Saturday, March 8th, the Village Green Owners Association held its annual meeting and the house was packed. Due to a great deal of interest, a full slate of board candidates, and collective interest in the agenda of the meeting, a quorum was easily reached at the meeting, held as usual at the Baldwin Hills Elementary School.

The meeting included statements from all Board candidates in attendance, followed by homeowner comments. Some homeowners expressed concerns about safety, some highlighted the availability of volunteer activities in the community (such as a chess club for neighborhood youth held every Monday at the Baldwin Hills Public Library Branch; contact Tad Daley for more information), and others had words of praise for the work of the Village Green property manager and staff.

We also had a brief presentation from Larry Reddell, a representative from Gafcon—a project management company contracted by the Board to do preliminary assessment and review of potential renovation projects. Larry and his colleagues will be available for additional information sessions if work with the company continues into additional phases of review and potential work. You can learn more about Gafcon at their Web site: www.gafcon.com.

Homeowners then heard from representatives of each committee, who had great updates and information about what they have

A Note from Our Returning Board President, Reba Glover

As your returning Association President, I would like to express my sincere thank you to the "retired" board members Robert Nicolais and Pauline Carroll, both of whom worked diligently last year to move the Green forward on many projects and who deserve a huge round of thanks from all of us for their volunteer service to the Green. Additionally, I would like to welcome our three new directors, Diann Dumas, Ben Ginsberg and Steve Haggerty to the 2008 Board of Directors. All three have shown great enthusiasm and energy thus far. I am confident that your 2008 elected Board will roll up its collective sleeves and be able to work together to move us along in the process of the infrastructure planning.

been up to this past year. Of special note, the Safety Committee/Neighborhood Watch group had an information table set up outside the meeting to help get the word out about Neighborhood Watch and to sign up interested residents.

The amount of work being done by all committee members in all the committees is incredible and the homeowners at the meeting were impressed.

The Board then moved into the Business Meeting portion of the annual meeting. We heard a President's report, the Treasurer's report and the Property Manager's report.

After the Business Meeting, the meeting was adjourned to await the results of the election due later that day. It was truly great to see such strong turnout at the annual meeting! Thank you all for your participation.

— Board Director Drew Furedi

At the Annual Meeting, we introduced the Gafcon representative Larry Reddel to owners, so that he could provide a general overview of the multiple-phase approach that Gafcon and Village Green could take towards addressing our infrastructure needs. The next phase would be a Property Condition Assessment, which would provide needed information so we can prioritize and begin to crunch numbers on how best to begin funding. Your 2008 Board of Directors will discuss the proposal from Gafcon for the Property Condition Assessment at the March Board meeting and determine if this next step will be taken.

This year, the Property Manager and the Board will have to work on several fronts, continuing to attack the smaller repairs throughout the common area; the re-occurring work such as painting, asphalt repairs, roofing, pest control and general maintenance; AND the larger, more complex task of developing a plan to address our long-term infrastructure needs.

Given that our deferred maintenance did not happen overnight, we are not going to solve it overnight. I believe that the Board and owners are moving together to solve this situation, which faces many owners associations. But I think, as everyone can already see for themselves, that steps are being taken to address both the immediate needs of owners and the long-term planning required to deal with our large projects. For the first time, we have a plan in place. Working together, we can all ensure that this wonderful place we call home will improve and thrive in the coming years.

Two Years on the Job:

Property Manager Robert Bonfiglio Has a Lot to Be Proud Of

Two years ago, resident Evelyn Greenwald interviewed our brand new manager, Robert Bonfiglio, for Highlights. On the second anniversary of his tenure here, she talks with Robert again.

Two years ago, Robert Bonfiglio became manager of the Village Green. I asked him then what attracted him to work here. He came to us from a corporate world, which is very different from the governance and milieu of the condominium environment. He likes working on properties and he saw Village Green as a place where much needed to be done. He spoke of the beauty of Village Green, of its unique quality; a park in the midst of a bustling city.

Four months after starting, he had devised a 10-year plan to organize a structure for how work was done and how to implement and maintain it. On his desk lies that detailed plan—it's a book as thick as a small city directory. Putting the plan into operation has taken much of his time and energy for these past two years. Outlining what has been accomplished, Robert cites a lengthy list—cleaning up the landscaping, painting 52 buildings and 10 garage courts, tree trimming on a regular schedule, cutting the backlog of work orders from nine pages to one.

Robert feels the Green is well into a maintenance mode now that so much work is done on a regularly scheduled basis. He commends both the maintenance and the office staff for their good work. He himself works 10- to 12-hour days many weeks. Just scheduling this interview took a few changes because of unexpected interruptions that arose. Interruptions seem to be a normal part of his work day. Asked if he could use more staff, he said yes, both in the office and in maintenance. He emphasized the need for continuity and —continued, p. 4

Pets Are Great, Loving Companions

They enrich our lives and the community here at Village Green.

But Your Pet Can't Read.

Be kind to your neighbors. Please abide the rules surrounding pet ownership at Village Green, which include (but are not limited to):

- Register your pet with the office
- Only one pet, under 30 lbs., allowed per unit
- Pets in transit must be leashed or carried
- Pick up any droppings left by your pet
- Pets cannot be walked in the common areas (the West Green, Main Green, East Green, Garden Courts)

follow-through for the long range success of the 10-year plan.

Working here is satisfying because Robert sees solid accomplishments and progress. He has worked well with two different boards, he says. And he comments on the wonderful people he has met here. In his leisure time at home (he lives in a house, not a condo), he refinishes furniture, gardens, and does construction projects on his property.

In the future, he looks forward to developing community relations, to developing relationships with city hall and our Councilman's offices, so that when Village Green needs support, we will be a known factor.

Two Great Cultural Affairs Events

Celebrating the Nicholas Brothers

It was standing room only for the annual Black History Month program honoring the lives of the gifted and talented Nicholas Brothers. This event was held in the clubhouse on Sunday afternoon, February 10th. Anthony Nicholas, son of Fayard, was on hand to show a documentary about his father and uncle and to share personal stories of growing up with them as well as anecdotes about their lives and work. The Jeffrey Barnes Baha'i choir (with VG residents Allison and Joe Grover-Khoury) also performed under the direction of Kristin Barnes. A delicious soul-food dinner was served, immediately following the event.

Anthony Nicholas talks about the Nicholas Brothers.

A Village Green Home Companion

Oh, what a talented community we have here in Village Green and much of it was on display at “The Village Green Home Companion” show presented on Sunday, March 9th. This afternoon event, sponsored by the Village Green Cultural Affairs Committee and coordinated by Jeanne Winn was full of family-friendly entertainment. Kitty Felde, VG resident and KPCC reporter, did an outstanding job of emceeing as well as presenting an original monologue.

The CAC would like to thank all the participants—Kristin Norton, Dan Frank, Corey Norton-Frank, Dean Cotrone, Al Sims, Angie Sims, Christopher Fairbanks, Elisa Surmont, Russell Fairbanks, Jeanne Winn, Bertha Credille, Rachel Fretz, Geoff Dwyer, Danny Kleinman, Cole Kurashige, Raul Ramirez, Betto Arcos, Kitty Felde, all the children who helped out and of course Joanie Nestor for her delicious baked beans! Thanks to all their efforts, it was a great success enjoyed by all.

Betto Arcos (Court 4) and Raul Rodriguez (of our very own maintenance staff) serenaded the crowd.

A packed house of VG residents came out to enjoy the local talent.

'The Green in Winter' Tour Highlights Cool Weather Beauty

On Saturday, January 12, the Landscape and Tree Committees sponsored the Green in Winter Tour. We all met at the Clubhouse briefly then we took off for a two-hour tour of the beautiful grounds. The tour highlighted the fact that we really don't have Winter here in the Village Green. The seasons can be seen in some of the trees, such as the Liquid Amber, which had both colorful Fall foliage and new Spring growth.

There was plenty of Spring color on many of the trees and shrubs. Examples included Flowering Pear trees, with attractive white flowers, and Camelias, putting on spectacular shows with red, white, and pink flowers, many in bloom until April. The weather was crisp and clear, perfect for a walk around the Green. About 20 varieties of perennial shrubs and vines, and 15 species of trees were found and discussed. Many of those on the tour commented on how fun and educational the event was.

There will be more tours of the Green throughout this year. In the meantime, I encourage all residents to experience on their own the unique natural beauty that is the Village Green. See you on the next tour.
